Strong All-Around Play by Chicagoan -Possenburg Defeats Townsend by One Point in the Afternoon Contest of the N. A. A. B. Tournament.

Averaging over 10, Charles F. Conklin of Chicago defeated Wilson P. Foss, the A. A. U. champion, last night in the third game of the N. A. A. B. 14-inch balk-line billiard tournament at the Hanover Club, Brooklyn. The score was 300 to 234. The result was a surprise, Conkiln playing the better allaround game. In the afternoon Ferdinand Poggenius of the Liederkranz Club nipped orthur Townsend of the Hanover Club at the wire and won by a score of 300 to 209.

Loud applause greeted Foss in the evening on his first appearance in the N. A. A. B. fold. The bank for the first shot was a re-markable one. Both balls came back and rested against the end rail, making the bank a tie, so that Walter Heineman, the referee. to instruct the players to bank again. This time Conklin won and missed the openg, two-cushion shot by a foot. Conklin led 28 to 5, when he finished his fourth inning, but Foss in his turn passed the Chicagoan with a run of 73. Foss found the ivories ripe for picking. A few open shots and he got to going, playing billiards that were most admirable in technique. drives in this run were noteworthy because of the good position obtained from them and his draws were masterly in execution and results.

When Foss eclipsed Possenburg's 67 run when Foss eclipsed Poggenburg's 67 run of the afternoon he was applauded heartily. Finally the balls lined up on a side rail and in a corner. The only solution of the situation was a masse, and the player, miscuing, ended a run no more meritorious for length than for general excellence.

Conkin changed cues after his sixth inning, and the new cue brought him good fortune. He ran 42 and every count was earned. The Westerner had several tight situations to get out of and was not the least daunted by any of them. He stoops low when he shoots, and with set jaws he went after the hard shots as determinedly as the easy ones. The brightest star of the constellation was a follow to the cushion and return to the red ball.

Foss gathered four zeros in succession, and led by only six points—99 to 98—after the eleventh inning. In the thirteenth inning Conklin made the most ornamental shot of the tournament to date. He studied long before deciding on a force draw the length of the table, grazing the cushion on the way. The onlookers shouted their approval. This glowing contribution was the start of a run of 50, which put Conklin came back with a run of 40, which put Conklin in the lead, 145 to 121. Close ball-to-ball work formed part of it. There also was an other open table dalliance. Conklin came back with a run of 44, and later passed into his third hundred, having 222 to Fosa's 154.

A beautiful three-cushion shot with reverse English by Foss stirred things up in the eighteenth inning. But he was making slow progress and the score soon after was: Conklin. 251: Fosa's 174.

Conklin drew near the finish with a block of 28, and Fosa's only salvation was an uphill spurt. It looked as if the spurt was coming when he touched off 27 in a bunch along the lower rail, but he missed a masse along the rail. A run of 24, was the best he could do after that and Conklin won in the twenty-ninth imning.

The aiternoon game between Poggenburg and Townsend was won and lost by a single point. It brought out a contest that was full of fast billiards and very exciting. Both men are adopts at close play, and once the big Liederkranz representative, with that delicate, caressing touch that he has, charmed the globes for an unbroken chain of 67. In the last inning Townsend had only one to go when he overdrew by a hair's breadth on an easy side draw. Poggenburg stepped to the table, clicked off ten caroms, and the trying set-to was over, with a high average for both victor and vanquished.

"WILL JULY 9 DO?"

ficant Query From England Regarding Date for Auto Cup Race. A meeting of the Race Committee of the Automobile Club of America was called yesterday to consider a letter and a cable message from the Automobile Club of Great Britain and Ireland relative to the race for the inter-national cup. The cablegram was received yesterday. It asked simply if Thusday, July 9, would be a satisfactory date for the race. To this the Automobile Club of America replied by cable that July 9 would be satis-

The letter from the British Club explained bow a course suitable in length for the race had been found in Ireland and stated that the roadbed of this course is finer than the road-bed of the course in France on which the race roadbed of this course is finer than the roadbed of the course in France on which the race of last year was run. The letter went on to state that it was greatly desired to hold the race on the Irish course, as it was the privilege of the British club to name the course, provided permission could be obtained from Parliament to do so, and that it was hoped permission could be obtained. It was also stated that if permission could not be obtained to run the race in Ireland the natural recourse would be to ask the French club to take charge of it. The objection to doing this, it was explained, lies in the fact that the French club would run the race in conjunction with the Paris-Madrid race on May 24, and that this is too early a date. A letter was received by the British club from the Automobile Club of Relgium offering it the use of the course in that country known as the Ardennes Circuit. The English letter was signed by David Solomons, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations.

A reply from the American club was drafted, in which it was stated that it was sincerely hoped here that the race could be run somewhere in British territory.

The fact of the cable being received to-day, a week after the date of the letter, led to the inference that the English club has since obtained the desired permission to use the course in Ireland, or is reasonably sure of obtaining it.

Regarding the preliminary contests for those who are candidates for the American team, the race committee declared yesterday that no amnouncement would be made concerning the character of the test to which the candidates will be put after they assemble in New York on April 11. In reply to questionings, the further statement was elicited that it must not be inferred because the style of contest was not announced that the committee was up in the air and did not know just exactly what it was going to do.

In order to clinch a match with Jim Jeffries for the heavyweight title, as far as he is con-cerned, Jim Corbett yesterday signed articles cerned, Jim Corbett yesterday signed articles of agreement presented by the International A. C. of Fort Erie. The papers call for a twenty-round bout, to be decided on or about June 30, 1903. for a purse of $25,000, which the Canadian club has already offered. The men can divide the money on a basis of 75 and 25 per cent. The forfeit of $5,000 which Jack Herman, representing the club, posted his other day will remain up until there is no possible chance of the scrap being ratified. Corbett seems to think that Jeffries will come around in due season and is quite jubilant over the prospects of clashing again with his old foeman.

Herman up to a late hour yesterday had not heard anything officially from Jeffries and his attitude relative to the proposed tilt. The Caampion, who is in St. Louis this week, wants to fight Corbett all right, but insists that the mill should be to a finish. It is likely that the club may meet him half way and increase the distance to twenty-five rounds. Jeffries was not represented at the meeting, and Herman has made preparations to leave to-day for St. Louis to see the Caampion.

Mr. Watson was one of the executive comwamis; Harvey Murdock, Nassau; Granville W. Garth, Ardsley; Adrian H. Larkin, Yountakah.

Mr. Watson was one of the executive committee last year; Messrs. Morgan. Singer. Travis and Ballou were reelected to the offices they had held, the others being new men.

Treasurer Singer reported a balance of $560. There was but one application for the spring championship tournament, that of the Deal Golf Club. and, while it was evident that the sense of the meeting was favorable to Deal, the precedent was followed of leaving the selection of the course and dates to the executive committee.

Mr. Price said that he thought the meeting should not be allowed to disperse without paying a formal tribute to the memory of W. Allston Flagg. The chairman stated that the executive committee had voted at the session preceding the annual meeting to present to the family of the deceased a set of resolutions embodying its feelings at his loss. Mesers. Larkin and Chauncey supported the opinion that it would be best to have it put on record that the resolutions embodied the feelings of the entire association. The motion was then passed intructing the executive committee to frame the set of resolutions for presentation to the Flagg family.

One of the secretary's recommendations had been that the handleap committee give a trial to the par system adopted by the New Jersey State Association. Judge Russell could not attend the meeting, and he will appoint the handleap and tournament committees later.

"Cuban Wonder" Wins From Frank Herrick in Wrestling Match.

Nearly 1,000 sports crowded into the sym-nasium of the New Polo A. C., 129th street and Park avenue, last night to witness a wrestling match to a finish at catch-as-catch-can style between Frank Herrick, assistant wrestling instructor of the New York A. C., and Clarence Bouldin, the "Cuban Wonder." Bouldin took both falls and was returned the winner.
The contest was one of the liveliest bouts of the season and kept the crowd in constant excitement. After the men had been wrest-ling more than fifteen minutes Bouldin while trying for a long hold accidentally kicked Herrick in the face and broke his nose. At the end of the thirty-second minute Bouldin secured a leg hold with a half Nelson and put the New York A. C. man down. The match was resumed after fifteen minutes intermission. Herrick's mutilated nose becan to bother him at the fortieth minute and gan to bother him at the fortieth minute and the Cuban threw him with a barlock. The time was 48 minutes.

M'CHESNEY NOT FOR SALE. Durnell and Herz Refuse Offer of $25.000 From Sire Brothers.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.-Charles "Boots" Durnell, trainer and part owner of McChesney. this morning stated positively that the horse was not for sale. Sire Bros a New York racing firm, who a few weeks ago made Durnell & Herz an offer for the son of MacDuff—Manola Mason, yesterday renewed their offer. Sire Bros. at first were willing to pay $20,000, then $25,000, but both offers were declined. Their last proposition which was made yesterday was $35,000. This was was made yesterday was $35,000. This was also refused.

Judging from what Durnell said to-day he will never part with McChesney as it was the son of MacDuff who placed him on his feet after he became embarrassed recently. The other reason why McChesney will not be sold is that Durnell, who was ruled off the French turf, will be reinstated this year by the French Jockey Club and will get a trainer's license. This will permit McChesney to race on the New York tracks after the Washington Park meeting. Then again MacDuff, McChesney's sire, who was a Kentucky Derby winner, has been destroyed. This adds value to McChesney for breeding purposes.
